UNIVERSITY AND PUBLIC SERVICE

SERVICE ACTIVITIES SUMMARY

Since my last advance I have been increasingly involved with peer review for a variety of publications listed above. I have become the fellowship director for our fellowship program and have been actively involved in the recruitment of top notch fellows to our program. I serve as the contact person for the pathology trained residents who rotate in our section and facilitate their learning experience with our group.

RESEARCH AND CREATIVE ACTIVITIES SUMMARY

My research interests are presently a collaborative effort with dermatologists and trainees in the UCSF dermatology department. I have been involved with a variety of clinicians and provide pathologic expertise and morphological examination of tissue samples related to a variety of research areas. I usually mentor a few individual residents or fellows per year and we produce abstracts or platform presentations for national meetings such as the American Society of Dermatopathology Annual meeting.

SIGNIFICANT PUBLICATIONS

1. Metchnikoff C, Mully T, Singer JP, Golden JA, Arron ST. The 7th edition AJCC staging system for cutaneous squamous cell carcinoma accurately predicts risk of recurrence for heart and lung transplant recipients. J Am Acad Dermatol. 2012 Nov; 67(5):829-35. PubMed PMID: 22285618; PubMed Central PMCID: PMC3345300.

I aided by reviewing a variety of squamous cell carcinomas that had been recently or remotely diagnosed, and confirmed or refined diagnoses that supported the conclusions in the article.

2. Glick ZR, Frieden IJ, Garzon MC, Mully TW, Drolet BA. Diffuse neonatal hemangiomas: An evidence-based review of case reports in the literature. J Am Acad Dermatol. 2012 Nov; 67(5):898-903. Epub 2012 Feb 15. PubMed PMID: 22341467.

I reviewed multiple old papers and examined the histopathologic photo micrographs to help refine the diagnosis of diffuse neonatal hamangiomas.

3. Saggini A, Mully T. Reactive eccrine syringofibroadenomatosis secondary to primary cutaneous amyloidosis: a novel association. J Cutan Pathol. 2014 Apr; 41(4):380-5. PMID: 24325801

I provided an unusual case, guidance, and clinical follow up information to aid Dr. Saggini, a visiting fellow, in the preparation of the manuscript.

4. Yeh I, Mully TW, Wiesner T, Vemula SS, Mirza S, Sparratta A, McCalmont T, Bastian B, LeBoit, P. Ambiguous Melanocytic Tumors with Loss of 3p21. Am J Surg Pathol. 2014 Aug;38(8):1088-95 PubMed PMID: 24705312; PubMed Central PMCID: PMC4101029.

I retrieved clinical follow up for this group of patients with a novel chromosomal loss in attempt to determine the long term consequence of this abnormality.

5. Yeh I, Botton T, Talevich E, Shain AH, Sparatta AJ, de la Fouchardiere A, Mully TW, North JP, Garrido MC, Gagnon A, Vemula SS, McCalmont TH, LeBoit PE, Bastian BC. Activating MET kinase rearrangements in melanoma and Spitz tumours. Nat Commun. 2015 May 27;6:7174. PMID: 26013381

I retrieved clinical follow up for this group of patients with a novel chromosomal loss in attempt to determine the long term consequence of this abnormality.
